Behind Scenes Maneuvering Is Promising

By Stan Swinton

Rome (AP) — Western diplomats here were optimistic yesterday in their efforts to settle the dispute over Trieste. They discounted the still sharp tone of the Yugoslav and Italian press as merely a sop to strong popular feelings in both countries.

But despite this optimism the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug threw cold water on Italy's conditional acceptance yesterday of a plan to meet with Yugoslavia and the Western Big Three (the United States, Britain and France), on Trieste. Italy's terms were not disclosed.

Tanjug said Italy's assent seemed to be along lines laid down earlier by Rome. It added that any proposal for a five-power conference is "completely unacceptable" if it takes for granted turning over part of Trieste free territory to Italy.

Yesterday Yugoslav voters balloted for legislative candidates on both the national and local level against a backdrop of bitter resentment over Italian claims to this strategic port on the Adriatic Sea. Despite some local contests it was obvious the Yugoslavs would endorse heartily the way President Tito's anti-Soviet Communist government is conducting its foreign relations.

Italy has insisted in the past that it will sit down at a formal conference only if the British-American pledge of Oct. 8 to let Italy occupy the Allied Zone A of Trieste free territory is carried out. Only then, the Italians insist, can they deal on equal terms with Yugoslavia, which occupies Zone B.

Tanjug's opposite view last night was not taken by diplomats as a blow to present maneuvering. The diplomats say, a lot lies ahead before even informal five-power talks can be held and that the present phase is just one of sounding out. They also think Yugoslav and Italian leaders are far more anxious to end eight years of bickering over Trieste than they let on publicly.

Teen-Agers Are Arrested

Philadelphia (AP) — Nearly 1,000 teen-agers were arrested here over the weekend as police cracked down on youthful gangs which have been terrorizing Philadelphians in recent weeks.

Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons said he ordered the drive after numerous complaints of beatings, holdups and robberies by gangs of adolescent terrorists. Eyewitnesses at poolrooms, taprooms, street corners and all-night restaurants where the gangs congregated, a 45-year-old woman was reported held prisoner by four youths. Police said she was criminally assaulted.

The special detail of 90 policemen headed by Inspector John F. Driscoll confiscated a quantity of guns and switchblade knives, reportedly made illegal by a city ordinance.

Of the teen-agers arrested in the police roundup 625 were brought in from one police division alone. Most of the youngsters were released in custody of their parents, who were warned to keep them from assembling in gangs.

Rain, Winds Drive Away Smog Blanket

By The Associated Press

Pennsylvanians got their first glimpse of clear skies in four days Sunday as light winds peeled away heavy layers of smog. Showers helped break up the combination of smoke and fog that had blanketed the state since last Wednesday.

The weather bureau attributed the situation to an atmospheric inversion: a layer of cold air held down by a layer of warm, dry air. The cold air layer turned into a giant mixing bowl, trapping particles of dust and other foreign matter to mingle with the fog.

The lifting of the smog Sunday was accompanied by high, unseasonable temperatures. The thermometer registered a high of 70 in Philadelphia. At the other end of the state Pittsburgh recorded a high of 71.

FBI Director Hoover May Get Cool Reception From Some Democrats On Budget

By Jack Bell

Washington (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover may be heading for a cool reception from some Democrats when he makes his annual appearance before congressional committees in support of his bureau's budget requests.

Democrats are not saying anything about it publicly, but generally they are tagging Hoover as the man who came closest to proving Atty. Gen. Brownell's charge that former President Truman was "blind" toward Communist infiltration when he promoted the late Harry Dexter White in the government in 1946.

Though some of the old two-party enthusiasm may be missing when Hoover shows up at budget time, any Democratic resentment against him is not likely to be reflected in congressional votes for any reduction in FBI funds.

Nevertheless, these Democrats, and some of them hold little brief for Truman—have made it clear they resent Hoover's part in what many of them regard as primarily a political attack not alone on Truman but on all Democrats.

Hoover appeared at the request of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. He brought a long prepared statement with him, which threw new light on the White case, and answered questions put by several senators.

Before Hoover took the stand, Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) stated the subcommittee "deliberated very carefully about the advisability of calling him.

"This man is the custodian of the nation's security," Jenner said, "and as such must be kept out of every other activity. We feel that he should not be called before congressional committees except where in a situation urgently warrants to clear up any possible imputation of irregularity."

In the minds of some Democrats, however, Hoover has tarnished the nonpartisan reputation he has managed to maintain through 29 eventful years of service at the head of the FBI—a reputation so great that Congress at times has pressed upon his bureau more funds than he was permitted officially to request.

Rightly or wrongly, these Democrats say they think that by his testimony and his acquiescence in the release of long secret documents, Hoover threw in his lot with the Republican administration.

Police Seek Slayer Of Army Colonel's Young Daughter

Tokyo, Monday, (AP) — Police combed a U. S. Army housing area today for clues to the killer who strangled a U. S. colonel's 9-year-old daughter with his hands. Her partly nude body, a gag stuffed in her mouth, was found Saturday night by her father only two blocks from home and within minutes after she died.

Reds Say Dangers Face Ike

New York (AP) — The Communist party said yesterday "the unprecedented attack" upon former President Harry S. Truman in the Harry Dexter White case was an effort to blind the public to the "rising dangers" of the Eisenhower administration.

In a statement issued over the signatures of party Chairman William Z. Foster, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and Pettis Perry, the party said the attack "is in reality an attack upon the whole labor movement, which today is generally in the camp of the Democratic party," and was made to divert attention from "the developing economic crisis."

"This time the Red-baiters, drunk in their hitherto unchallenged arrogance, have gone too far," the statement said. "It is one thing to frame up Communist leaders with the help of government stool pigeons and perjurers, but it is something else again to Red-bait an ex-president as a traitor to the nation."

Beaucratie Blunder

Washington (AP) — Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) yesterday denounced as a "bureaucratic blunder" the recent Pentagon decision to permit bottle-sale of liquor on Army and Air Force posts.

Thieves Loot Travis Store Over Weekend

Thieves stole $2,000 to $3,000 worth of merchandise Saturday night from C. H. Travis & Sons hardware store, East Stroudsburg.

The calm burglars apparently took their time. They packed their loot into cardboard cartons they found in the basement of the store at 15 S. Courtland St.

A complete inventory was underway all day yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Travis, the present owners and operators, in an attempt to pin down the loss to an exact figure.

When completed, the inventory of missing goods will be turned over to East Stroudsburg police, who are receiving cooperation of Stroudsburg State police in the investigation.

Loot included such costly items as shotguns, rifles, sporting goods, electrical appliances.

The thieves broke into the store through a rear window, thus gaining entrance to the basement. They went up the stairs from the basement and broke into the store proper.

The gun rack was emptied. Evidently the loot was assembled in leisurely fashion on the floor of the store in a secluded area, and then the empty cardboard cartons were brought up from the basement.

After the loot was packed in the boxes, Mr. and Mrs. Travis theorized, a truck could have been driven down a ramp at the side of the building and the boxes loaded onto it.

The theft was discovered yesterday morning by Travis. He stopped at the store on the way to church, in order to turn off the night light. Inside the store he saw the empty gun rack. The investigation followed.

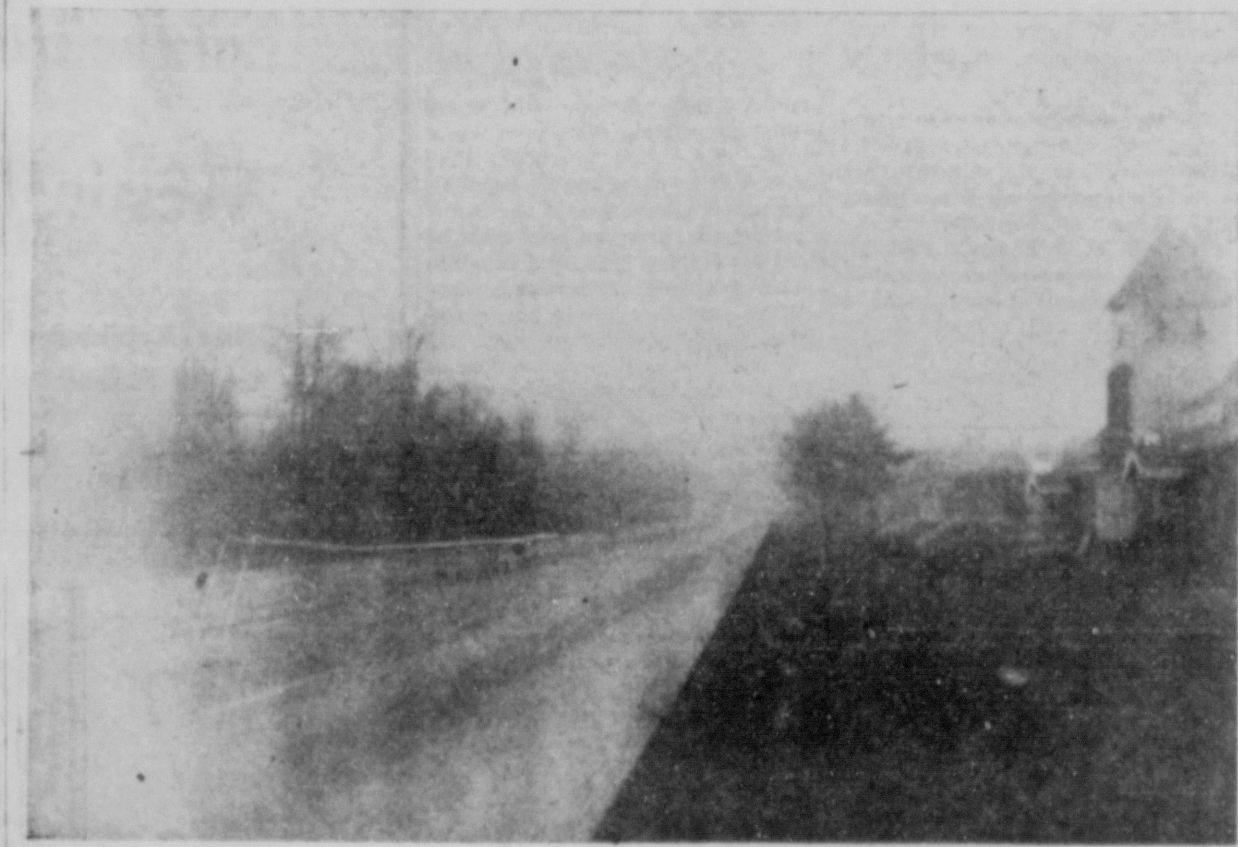

Probers Ask For Report On Canadian

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles was asked yesterday by Senate probers of communism in government to relay another message to Canadian authorities in support of a request to question Igor Gouzenko, former Soviet code clerk at Ottawa.

Gouzenko, who now lives with his family in an Ontario town under an assumed name and has a Royal Canadian Mounted Police guard, broke with his Soviet masters in 1945 and supplied the Canadian government with information about Russian espionage activities.

A first request of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee for an opportunity to question him was turned down by the Canadian government, which said U. S. authorities had been promptly advised of all information of value to them.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) questioned this, however, and at his request Dulles asked the Canadian government last Thursday to reconsider its refusal to allow a subcommittee representative to interview Gouzenko.

SMOG SMEARED THE LANDSCAPE in the Poconos yesterday for the fourth straight day. Driving was hazardous, flying was impossible and hunting was a dangerous game. Fortunately most residents stayed home, tended to their knitting and peered occasionally out the window; tourists kept a level head on their shoulders, either turned around midway in their journey and headed back for Stroudsburg. Consequently no accidents were reported on county highways. No explanation (scientific) of the phenomenon had been released last night. Everybody seemed to agree the thick, choking, smoky fog was foul weather, indeed. Some called it smog; some called it smaze. Both were preceded, in general, by descriptive phrases which were largely unprintable. Weather observers hinted last night that relief might be on the way. Smog seemed to be lifting at some points along the Eastern seaboard. Whether they liked it or not, Monroe county residents had smog in their pipes and smoke in their eyes. Above photo was taken on Lackawanna Trail north of the boro. Thin white streaks in center and foreground were caused by passing car's foglights when photographer used a one-tenth-second exposure. Tornado Nearly Wipes Out Florida Town; Another Hopscotches Through Louisiana

Panama City, Fla., (AP) — A tornado roaring like a freight train injured 21 persons and nearly wiped out a small Florida community yesterday.

Another tornado hopscotched across two south Louisiana counties a few hours earlier, destroying 26 homes and injuring one.

The Florida twister demolished six houses at Woodville, a community of 100 persons about 20 miles west of Panama City. Fifteen of the 21 injured were families of four brothers. Two others were related to the families.

The funnel-shaped cloud of swirling wind dipped down from over-casting skies at 8:40 a.m. and cut a wide path through pine tree thickets.

A narrow but vicious tornado dashed through Louisiana's Lafayette and St. Martin Parishes (counties), striking heaviest near the farm town of Broussard. Most of the persons living in the demolished houses were attending a church fair and returned home to find torn and ripped timbers and roofing.

Only person injured in the area was elderly Fred Batiste, who received a cut on the head.

"My wife was sick and we didn't go to the church fair," he said. "We woke up when we heard the windows breaking. We tried to get out, but the wind threw the bed room right out on the highway."

Another family reported that a gaping hole was torn in the roof of their home and all the furniture was sucked out through the hole while they huddled on a porch.

Red Cross disaster workers were sent immediately to both the Louisiana communities and to Woodville, Fla.

John Hughes, of Highland Park, Fla., who was hunting near Woodville at the time, said he heard a noise which sounded like a freight train. He said pine trees bent to the ground before they were snapped off. He called ambulances from Panama City and went to the aid of the victims.

Most seriously hurt was 6-month old Charles Holley who suffered a fractured skull. The other injured had cuts and bruises.

Educated Drivers

Harrisburg, (AP) — Chances are if you took a high school driver education course, you're a much better person behind the wheel of an automobile.

Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner made that point yesterday in declaring that "expert early teaching is the surest way to bring about safety on the highways."

Little Need For Districts Is Claimed

Washington (AP) — House tax fraud investigators yesterday recommended elimination of some of the present 64 federal district tax collection offices in the interest of more efficient revenue service.

While tactically acknowledging political opposition to any step which would deprive states or districts of a tax office, investigators concluded "there is little need for 64 such offices." They recommended elimination of some offices and the relocation of others.

At the present time, there is at least one district tax collection office in each state, with some states — notably New York — having several.

Among major criticisms, however, was continuation of the basic framework of 64 tax collection offices.

"The number of these districts and their boundaries were fixed many years ago and bear little relation to the realities of present-day revenue administration," the subcommittee said.

"For example, there are six collection districts in the State of New York, four in Ohio, and three in Pennsylvania, but only two in California and one in Michigan."

"The district director's office at Chicago annually processes over five million returns; the office at Reno Nev. processes only 145,000."

The reorganization plan, drafted by President Truman in late 1951, at a time when tax scandals shook the bureau, abolished the offices of politically-appointed revenue collectors and created in their stead the non-political offices of district collector. The new district offices were placed under regional administrators.

The number and location of district offices, however, for the most part conformed to the number and location of the old political offices of revenue collector. In some instances, the same official continued in office.

Commies Drag Peace Talks

By William Barnard

Panmunjom, Monday, (AP) — Dragged out by Communist stalling, diplomatic talks aimed at arranging a Korean peace conference crawled into their fifth week today.

U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean, representing the United Nations in the talks, said he feels the Reds are blocking progress in order to take the matter of arranging the conference before the U. N. General Assembly in New York, which convenes Tuesday.

In Saturday's talks, the Reds called patient, affable Dean a "warmonger, an untruthful rogue, insincere, irrational, lacking in common sense and frivolous."

The talks, which began Oct. 26, are snarled over Red insistence that the peace conference admit Russia, India, Pakistan, Indonesia and Burma to sit as "neutrals" with the belligerents.

Eagle Scout Honors For Robert Lupcho

Newfoundland—Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, former president of Bucknell University and present head of the S. H. Kress Foundation, will be the principal speaker at ceremonies conferring Eagle Scout honors on a member of Troop No. 123 in the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School auditorium Wednesday night.

Recipient of Scouting's highest award will be Robert Lupcho, 14, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Lupcho, the fourth member of the local troop to be so honored.

Presentation of the Eagle badge will be made by Earl Brink, head of the advancement committee of the Minisink Scout district. Norman Vogt, Honesdale, field executive of the Minisink and Wayne districts, and other officials of the district and of Dan Beard Council are expected to be present.

Joining the local troop in December, 1949, the honored scout moved rapidly upward through the ranks leading to the Eagle award. He became a Second Class Scout in October, 1950, attained First Class ranking in April, 1952, was made a Star Scout in November of the same year and became a Life Scout in April, 1953.

Possessor of 26 merit badges, Robert has only to wait the required six-month period to receive a Bronze Palm. A total of 21 merit badges are required for the Eagle award.

Service to his troop include serving as patrol leader, scribe and senior patrol leader. He has attended a total of eight weeks at the Goose Pond Scout camp and last summer attended the National Jamboree at Irvine Ranch, Santa Anita, Calif., where he acted as patrol leader.

Robert is a member of the sophomore class at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School and is a member of the varsity basketball team and the school band.

Scoutmaster of the local troop is Richard McLain, who will witness the presentation of the Eagle award to the fourth boy of his troop. The others were Wade and Dale Keen and Scot Brown. This will also be the fourth such award in the Minisink district, which comprises troops in Moscow, Madisonville, Elmhurst and Newfoundland.

As part of the program, which is scheduled for 8 p.m., Robert will show pictures and speak briefly on his trip to the National Jamboree. The public is invited to attend.

YMCA Youth Projects Are Extensive

The YMCA's Youth Department announced yesterday that many of the activities for youth in the county have progressed successfully. The basic program is the Community Club program for boys and girls from six to 18 meeting in schools, churches, homes or other facilities.

Here are some reports from various groups within this program: Gra-Y—The younger boys' groups have been involved in elections of officers, building club programs for the coming months, and playing recreational games. The Ramsey (Blackhawks) Gra-Y boys went on a bicycle hike last Saturday with the destination Camp Dent, the Allentown YMCA's summer camp. They explored the surrounding country, had a camp fire, and played outdoor games.

Saturday, the Pathners Gra-Y and the Blackhawk Gra-Y will meet on the gridiron for a challenge football game. A great deal of time and practice has been going on for the past two weeks for this event.

Hi-Y—The Stroudsburg Hi-Y Club was invited to the Bethlehem YMCA for basketball and a swim and eleven boys of the group made the trip.

In their previous meeting, John Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA, spoke to the group on the subject, "Let's Get Hep." The group has been working to build the group up to the maximum number of boys and should reach their goal in a few weeks.

The Barrett Hi-Y saw the YMCA's film "Men of Tomorrow" at their regular meeting last Tuesday night at the Mountain-Home Methodist Church.

Thursday night at the Presbyterian Church the officers of the Hi-Ys and Tri Hi-Ys meet in their first Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y Council. The purpose of this council is to provide officers training, exchange program ideas, and develop county wide programs for youth. At the present time there are about 130 boys and girls involved in this group program.

The Indian theme has been developed in a new group at the Barrett "Y" for the boys in the Junior High School level. The group will learn Indian customs, dancing and crafts in the coming months. A trip to New York City to visit the Indian museums is in the planning stages for early in the new year. An Indian arrowhead hunting hike is also coming up in future programs.

Behind good telephone service...

Dorothy McDonald is a Traffic Representative. It is her job, to visit business establishments and instruct employees in the proper operation of telephone switchboards and teletype equipment.

Laura McDonald operates tabulating equipment in the Accounting Office in Philadelphia. She joined the Telephone Company 10 years ago on the advice of her older sister.

Kathleen McDonald's job is to insure that customer service records are checked fast and accurately. She works in the Revenue Accounting Department in Philadelphia.

If the McDonald sisters wore headsets, you'd immediately say Telephone Company, because the alert, pleasant operator is a symbol of the service you enjoy.

Important as the operator, if not as symbolic, are the telephone people you never meet unless they happen to be friends or neighbors. Take the McDonalds. Although they work behind the scenes, the jobs they do help make your telephone something you can count on.

Because you rely on it, telephone service has to be good. Keeping it that way—high in value, low in cost—is a source of satisfaction to those who provide it.

Junk In The Mail

People are finding more and more mail in their boxes lately, and quite a lot of it bears neither their names nor their addresses.

It is the sort of advertising "dodger" or handbill that used to be distributed door-to-door by private enterprise, in the form of neighborhood boys who thereby earned some spending money.

Uncle Sam is taking over this field of endeavor, thanks to a new Post Office Department decision. Now an advertiser who wants to send circulars through the mail doesn't have to address them to anyone—he simply puts in the Post Office enough of the circulars to provide one for every patron on the various carrier routes, and each carrier takes the "roper number."

Advertisers are able to save considerable expense under the new rule, since the postage rate is the same and they no longer have to address their mail.

What is even more startling, some postal officials think the greater volume of this "third class" mail may reduce the annual loss the Government suffers by carrying it at the present low rates. This loss was 154 million dollars last year.

The mathematics involved in that conclusion are a little too complex to be understood at one sitting, but the gist of it seems to be that since the postman is coming by our house anyway, he may as well bring along copies of whatever circulars were left in the Post Office that day.

If that is the case, he might as well deliver the milk, too, and collect the garbage on the way back.

Whether or not the Post Office Department can figure itself into a paper "profit" on this, it has gone off the reservation in other and highly questionable respects.

Moreover, letter carriers are a self-respecting and hard working group of men who take their responsibilities seriously and properly resent being made pack-horses for a mass of junk that the sender doesn't consider important enough to write an address on.

An individual's mail is a personal matter, and he should not be required to plow through a pile of the aforementioned junk in order to find his letters.

The Post Office Department had enough problems to begin with. There is no excuse for taking on this one.

Another Almanac's Out

It is not, either, going to be an extra-severe winter, as some caterpillars and like prognosticators have alleged. The 1954 Baer's Agricultural Almanac has just come in, and it shows that the weather will be just about average.

January's temperatures will be average, and precipitation will be above normal. February's temperatures will be above average, and precipitation below. March will have below-average temperatures but normal precipitation.

It says so right in the book, and those above, belows and normals seem to balance each other pretty well. How does the book know? Well, it's been coming out for 129 years and it's published in Lancaster, which claims to be the nation's weather capital.

In addition to the weather-seers of the Almanac, Lancaster County has the Quarryville Groundhog Lodge, which studies the noted shadow each Feb. 2. It also has an organization known as the Bullfrogs, because members judge the weather by the sound made by that creature. Then there's "Whitey" Sharpe, baker at the County Home, who gazes at the dog star and issues sage prognostications.

It says all that in the book, too. And whether or not you believe the predictions, this and other almanacs make good reading on cold winter nights.

The Once Over

GODFREY IN THE WOODS

Arthur Godfrey is deer hunting. On the first day he missed a shot at four bucks. (If it had been four grand he would have been dead.) Arthur thinks hunting relaxes him but our answer is, "Wanna bet?" The redhead is so happy and contented on the air that there can be nothing but disappointment in view of the fact a deer can't applaud, laugh or whistle and cares nothing for tea, cigarettes or noodle soup. We think that when Godfrey runs across a deer his first impulse is to propose skating lessons. If he runs into three, he asks for a fourth so he will have a quartette.

It is hard to picture Arthur as a deer slayer in the old pioneer traditions. We see him away out there in the deep woods thoroughly unhappy with no radio or TV audience and no news of how much Julius La Rosa took down last week. Suppose Godfrey brings down a deer; where's the thrill if nobody cheers? There's no chance for the surefire laugh when you ask a deer where it comes from and it is utterly incapable of replying, "Brooklyn!" It is our hunch that when Godfrey suddenly comes upon a deer he greets it cordially, asks it to sit down and says, "Well, well, you're certainly charming. Tell me all about yourself. Whom have you brought with you?"

There is a report that Arthur has a system for judging a deer. . . . One prong: amateur type; two prongs: needs more experience; three prongs: might be okay with the Mariners or Frank Parker; four prongs: very good, IF HUMBLE. We wonder what the effect on a deer is when it gets the news it can get on a Godfrey woodland program by JUST SHOWING UP? Arthur is accompanied on his hunting trip by Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson and General LeMay, U.S. Strategic Air Commandant. We never suspected he needed that much defense, except possibly against moose, black panthers and amusement agents on the hunt to steal away a La Rosa. (La Rosa, by the way, scorns the deer woods. He would look silly stalking an elk with "Everywhere I Wander," or going after a bear with "I'm Walking Behind You.")

It is our suspicion that the Godfrey-Wilson-LeMay hunt is not all work. Our scouts hint that the Secretary of Defense spent much of the time learning to play the ukelele, that Godfrey took a hand at cutting budgets and that LeMay got into trouble smoking the wrong cigarette and bringing his own soup.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Air Force Preparing Special Report On "Flying Saucers"

Washington — There is a new batch of significant "flying saucer" developments.

While these mysterious objects haven't been in the headlines of late, they are still frequently and authoritatively reported throughout the world, and facilities and efforts to fathom them are increasing both in the U. S. and abroad.

Following are important developments that can be published: The Air Force is preparing another special report on flying objects.

The Navy has established a research agency of its own to study these aerial devices.

Six other countries now have official organizations conducting probes of these mysterious objects. They are Canada, Britain, France, Sweden, Norway and Russia.

So far, in the U. S. alone more than 200 sightings have been reported this year.

The Air Force will again take a "yes-and-no" position in its forthcoming report.

Claims and rumors about space ships from other planets and secret foreign aircraft will not be confirmed. However, neither will they be wholly rejected. The Air Force's experts will carefully make certain reservations.

They will admit being unable to explain some 15 per cent of the investigated sightings.

Lots of 'em — More than 3,500 such reports have been received by the Air Force in the past six years.

Most of them, after thorough study, have turned out to be either weather balloons, astronomical and climatic phenomena, birds, light reflections, airplanes, or radar and other electronic disturbances.

But 15 per cent of the sightings do not fall into these categories and the experts have no answers for them as yet. They could be this, that or something else.

The Air Force's large "flying saucer" research staff includes the best scientists and technicians in the country, assisted by the latest and finest equipment. Newest addition to that is a number of sighting stations that have batteries of specially-constructed high-speed cameras.

Air Force authorities are still debating whether to publish anything produced by these stations. They are located in strategic sections of the country, particularly in the vicinity of atomic plants where sightings are frequently reported. That is one of the most significant facts regarding these mysterious objects.

This column is unable to comment on a report that one of the Air Force's sighting stations picked up a device being tested by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It can be disclosed that during President Eisenhower's recent trip to Canada, he was briefed on that country's super-secret "Project Y," a disc-shaped fighter plane that is reportedly capable of attaining a speed of 1,500 miles per hour from a vertical take-off.

The wheelless craft is hurtled into the air from a catapult and makes a pancake landing. Models of the unique plane have been successfully tested.

A startling experience encountered by former Navy Secretary Dan Kimball was largely responsible for that service setting up its own "flying saucer" research organization.

While returning from the Far East, Kimball's plane was buzzed by a mysterious object. Extensive investigation failed to identify or explain it. Kimball was so stirred by the incident that he strongly recommended establishment of a special staff to conduct studies in this field.

That was done but, the Navy has never disclosed its findings.

Still Pyramiding — The Senate Agriculture Committee has received a doleful report.

It's from the Agriculture Department and shows crop surpluses are soaring to record heights.

This situation is a key factor in the explosive farm problem. With commodity prices sagging, the government is accumulating vast stocks under price support loans. Cotton is a graphic illustration of that.

On October 15, 1952, the government held 166,175 bales under such loans. In the same period this year, this relatively small amount had skyrocketed to 2,973,869 bales. This is more than 1,800,000 bales greater than the government had ever held in storage before.

Reason for the immense increases in the surplus is the fall in farm prices.

Try and Stop Me

The South always comes as a warning pleasure to more reserved visitors from up North. A man waiting with you for a hotel elevator greets you instead of staring past you. A stranger may ask you to join him for refreshments. But—the girl who called to awaken me at 7 one morning at the King Cotton Hotel in Greensboro, N. C., did carry things a bit far. . . . At 7:15, while I was bawling a ballad in the shower, she rang me again. Dripping water and shivering, I ran to the phone to hear her say, "I just wanted to make sure, honey, that you hadn't fallen asleep again."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

At Least 13 Spy Groups In U. S. Were Enormously Effective In Achievements

The various spy groups, organized in this country, were enormously effective and accomplished more than we know. The following is an attempt to bring together a list of their achievements.

1. The Rosenberg ring stole the atomic bomb and infiltrated scientific agencies of the armed forces engaged in experimental work. Rosenberg personally stole a proximity fuse. He organized a capable group of agents at the Signal Corps stations at Astoria, Long Island and at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey. This group stole our radar developments for Soviet Russia.

2. Amtorg, set up as a trading company, was a cover for economic espionage, the extent of which is not yet fully disclosed. Enough is known, however, to confirm the suspicion that Amtorg took advantage of the friendliness of American business production plants.

3. The policy of the State Department, particularly as the result of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which was used by an espionage group as a base for activities. This group, of which Alger Hiss and Lauchlin Currie were effective, was dominated by Edward C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field. It corralled a number of capable American writers who, by placing many articles in American magazines and writing what seemed to be authoritative books, established an atmosphere, particularly in the State Department, favorable to Communist China. Owen Lattimore, now under indictment, was one of the leading experts projected before the American people by the Institute of Pacific Relations. During the periods when George Marshall and Dean Acheson were in charge of the State Department, the institute group dominated American policy.

4. Alger Hiss worked his way up into high echelons in the State Department, being President Roosevelt's expert at Yalta where all the decisions were favorable to Soviet Russia. He was the principal American official in charge of the San Francisco Conference where the Charter of the United Nations was prepared.

5. The OWI, the American propaganda agency during World War II, contained an effective pro-Communist cell. Agencies serving the OWI consisted of European so-called experts, many of whom were Communists. Joseph Barnes, named several times as a Communist in Congressional committee hearings, was in charge of the New York office.

6. The International Information Administration, which includes the Voice of America, was penetrated deeply by Communists, pro-Communists and pro-Russians. Investigations by Congressional committees produced evidence of such infiltration. The cleaning-out job in this agency has not been done satisfactorily.

7. Books, pamphlets, lecture courses, prepared for troops abroad during World War II, and even current indoctrination courses prepared for military officers, have been slanted favorably toward the Russian point of view. As recently as January, 1952, the General Headquarters of the United Nations and the Far East Command, Military Intelligence Section, issued a book to indoctrinate intelligence officers entitled "Psychological and Cultural Traits of Soviet Siberia." This is definitely a Communist book, designed to "brain-wash" American officers. Testimony concerning it developed in closed hearings before the McCarthy Committee. It is here cited as an example of a continuing process.

8. The White House staff was infiltrated by the presence of Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg when Roosevelt was President. Lauchlin Currie played a signal role in the formation of the China policy and in placing Communists, pro-Communists and their allies in various agencies of government. The role of David K. Niles, often discussed but never quite established by public evidence, must be mentioned in passing.

9. The hearings before the Jenner Committee, during which Attorney General Brownell and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover testified, established the existence of an espionage ring in the Treasury, headed by Harry Dexter White. This was a section of an espionage apparatus headed by Nathan Gregory Silvermaster.

Similar groups existed in the Department of Agriculture in the AAA, the National Labor Relations Board, the Department of Commerce and other agencies of government.

This is the beginning of the evidence.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights
First Nighters: "Escapee," another British immigrant, hailed as a Dandy in Piccadilly, was dismissed as a Dully here. The reviewers were generous with cheerios for the east (headed by Brian Aherne) but almost unanimous in their rebuffs for the author . . . Chapman of The News yawned: "A bit of a bore" . . . The Times' Mr. Atkinson ho-hummed: "The play seems fugitive and trivial" . . . Mr. Hawkins of The World-Telegram-Sun was alone in his love for it. "It hovers," he gushed, "verbosely on the outskirts of a perfectly delightful story" which it most certainly does not . . .

The Intelligence on some Broadway-bound plays was depressing. "The Prescott Proposals," which opened in New Haven with such giant talents as Katherine Cornell, Leland Hayward and Lindsay-Crouse, was reported to be a pygmy . . . Variety's Socrates found it "moderately interesting." Our deputies reported the new play needs lots of work before it can be called a solid hit. Miss Cornell's star-power is responsible for its whiz biz . . . "Flame-Out" was buried in Hartford and Buffalo critics were snobbish toward "Twin Beds" . . . The producers might find some cheer in this fact: 15 B'way shows now doing big biz got rap notices.

The Cinemagicians: "Take the High Ground" is a tense military story, with a dry episode here and there. Prof. Widmark is the best part of it and Elaine Stewart next-best. The over-worked movie story (of how tough it is for rookies in training) is hardly entertainment . . . "His Last 12 Hours" is a timewaster . . . "Decameron Nights" retains some of the sly qualities of Boccaccio's sassy stories. Joan Fontaine is always a good show over at these eyes, anyhow . . . "Appointment in Honduras" takes you to the jungle, where Ann Sheridan brings out the beast in you. Unfortunately, the plot is a Crumb of the Old Animal Cracker . . . Lovely Claire Bloom is the Top Tingle in a British film called "The Man Between," a suspenseful show . . . "The Unknown Lover" (from Italy) is good . . . "3 Forbidden Stories" disappoints.

The Celebrities: The Bob Hope stanza stuttered some. The Fred MacMurray fluff convulsed Robert and Janis Page when Fred was apparently in agony. Actors are the first to enjoy another player's discomfort, anyhow . . . George Jessel using his program to blast at a critic's opinions was a mistake. Jessel merely advertised the rap . . . "Omnibus" offered a documentary on a sea-horse. The tops in yawntertainment . . . "The Music Show" fulfills the promise of its name. A half hour of popular melodies minus interruption. It even skips the titles . . . "Youth Takes a Stand" has youngsters giving horse-sense the thoroughbred touch. They have a remarkable grasp of current affairs . . . Another provocative forum is ABC's "Answers for Americans" . . . Tevey panelists usually seem serene. Until the cameras catch their restless fingers. A tipoff to their jitters . . . A Hollywood trade journal revealed Van Johnson would be the mystery guest on "What's My Line?" . . .

Stairway to the Stars: "Picnic" backers just divided another $30,000 melon. It has returned dividends of $95,000 to date. . . . The top ticket for the Met Opera premiere was $30. It always has a diamond-studded opening and winds up in the red . . . Marion Davies, the former star, is reported "Kismet's" top angel. For over $200,000 . . . Basil Rathbone dropped $50,000 on his wife's version of "Sherlock Holmes," which perished after 3 perfs . . . Nancy Walker's husband, D. Craig, tutored two youngsters now in play on the same street. Roddy McDowell in "Escape" and Bill Penn in "Fifth Season" . . . Lionel Hampton netted $28,000 a week on his European tour . . . Heywood Brown Jr. is on the Jackie Gleason program . . . Anita Ellis, the Blue Angel canary, was Rita Hayworth's singing voice for some of her films . . . Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

One of my readers in Temple, Texas, sent me a copy of the Daily Telegram of that city, containing the story of the opening of the new television station, owned by Frank W. Mayborn, publisher of the paper.

There was almost a full page of pictures of the celebration, and an article describing it. It contained, among many others, this paragraph:

"It intrigued its beholders with the realization that from its sky-high, silver-shaft antenna would be beamed visual-on-the-spot news happenings from the whole world and entertainment from New York, London, Paris, Hollywood and all the other far-away places . . ."

When I read that article I thought of a trip my wife and I took through Texas a couple of years ago.

Temple was one of our stops. We dropped in on the Mayborns unannounced and found both of them out.

But their maid let us in and we saw as lovely and modern a home as we had seen anywhere.

We saw also, in Temple, modern business buildings and stores, a thoroughly up-to-date hotel, banks, factories and many other completely modern structures.

And yet, with all its modernity, there was a thoroughly Texas atmosphere everywhere.

That atmosphere is very hard to describe. You can understand it only if you have visited Texas. You'll find it in Lubbock, in Port Arthur, in Beaumont and many of the other Texas towns which, in a few years, have grown from a handful of pioneers to cities of many thousands.

My heartiest congratulations to Frank Mayborn, and to Temple on its new television station. I hope that none of the typical Texas atmosphere will have disappeared when we visit again in a couple of years from now.

How much Texas will there be left in Temple—and the many other towns that will soon have television—when once they get the "daily news" and the entertainment that comes out of Broadway, Hollywood and Vine, the Rue de la Paix and the Strand?

I hope that wonderful Texas SPIRIT will not have been supplanted by the sophistication and sophisticated PSEUDO-WISDOM of New York, Paris and London.

On the back of the page describing the television celebration, there were many local items in the Temple Telegram.

They told of Tom Simmons and C. E. Stockton being in Colorado on a deer hunt. Mrs. Curtis Curry Jr., of Belton, Route 1, was reported as improving after undergoing surgery at King's Daughters Hospital. Mrs. Mackie Mykleby and daughter, Kim, returning from a trip to Dallas, where they attended the "Ice Cycles." The Rev. Joseph Dobbins spoke at a meeting of Theta Sigma Phi and discussed his stamp collection.

The article describing the opening of the television station spoke of the neighborliness, deep-rooted understanding and unity of purpose noticeable at the affair. It said the festivity "wore a genuine 'dear hearts and gentle people' fabric."

The pictures showed Frank Mayborn proudly wearing a ten-gallon hat and complete real Texas cowboy outfit.

I do hope that when the British and French fashions come over the new television station, Frank won't run over to London for a Saville Street suit. And I also hope that that pretty wife of his will still buy her perfume at Klecka's City Drugstore in Temple, TEXAS.

Tuberculosis Society X-Rayed 3,420 Persons During Year

Christmas Seals Were Responsible

Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society last year X-rayed 3,420 persons in this area.

To carry out this monumental task, the Society depended, in large part on funds collected through its annual sale of Christmas Seals.

The seals, colorfully designed to show the "spirit of youthful caroling" by artist Elmer Jacobs, are now being received in homes throughout the area.

Of the 3,420 persons given X-rays last year by the Tuberculosis and Health Society's mobile unit a total of 2,019 were food handlers employed by local restaurants and resorts.

The number of persons X-rayed is impressive. But it is not so important as one other factor revealed during the X-ray drive during July last year.

During that month X-rays proved conclusively that two Monroe County food handlers—employed on an interim basis—were active tuberculosis cases.

There was sufficient justification from photographic reports in 78 other cases to cause the Society to request that a second X-ray be taken.

Although most persons donating to the Monroe County Society through purchase of the Christmas Seals do not know this, the X-rays taken each year prove invaluable in uncovering some other diseases in the human system.

Nine of the persons X-rayed, for example, were shown to have cardiovascular difficulties—conditions of various kinds which affect the heart and the circulatory system.

Two other persons were shown to have physical ailments of another kind. Through the X-rays taken by the Society, these persons were able to begin consultation with their personal physicians on the disease thus uncovered.

In addition to the 2,019 food handlers X-rayed by the Society, 576 residents, 722 students and

Tobyhanna Township Will Have Program Wednesday

Poco Pines — Tobyhanna Township School children will present their annual Thanksgiving program on Wednesday.

Pupils in the first six grades will present the program, according to C. Willis Dunlap, principal.

First graders will sing four songs: "The Turkey", "John Brown", "Hi, Ho, The Wagon" and "Pies For Sale."

Pupils in grade two will take part in an exercise titled "A Present Day Thanksgiving" with Bonnie Shotwell, James Seitz, Maxine Murphy, Elaine Lutkowski, James Wildrick and Waldo Dyson in the cast.

Those two cases—engaged as they were in the handling and dispersal of food—were in a position to endanger the health, happiness, security and lives of hundreds of other persons.

The X-ray, as physicians and health workers repeat constantly, is Man's biggest weapon in the fight against TB. Once the disease has been found—and only then—proper steps can be taken to remedy its ravages of the human body.

Woman Makes Kill As Bear Season Ends

Bear season closed Saturday with many hunters stalking the bruns but no spectacular kills reported.

Game Protector John Doehling said it will be a few weeks before he receives a complete tally of kills in Monroe County from the State Game Commission at Harrisburg.

It is required, he reminded, that every hunter who killed a bear make a report to Harrisburg. This is done conveniently by tearing off the necessary portion of the hunting license, filling it out, and dropping it in a mailbox. No postage is required. There is a fine for failure to mail in the report. Doehling pointed out.

One of the kills reported over the weekend was made by a woman, Mrs. Vallie Bachman Wolf, of Freeland, a former Monroe County resident who bagged her 250-pound bear in the Brads Lake area.

C. G. Bush, 566 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, shot a bear which weighed 124 pounds hog-dressed.

Bush was with a party of 16 organized by Willard Anglemeyer and Robert Beeher, and got the bear after others in the party made a drive. The kill was made in the Cranberry bog near Tannersville at 8 a.m.

For the rest of the week the season will continue open on rabbit, turkey, pheasant, grouse, quail and mink.

Saturday marks the start of muskrat trapping season.

But the big day—which will probably result in the heaviest turnout of hunters this year—will be a week from today, Nov. 30.

Patsy Bobby will announce the program and Norbert Keiper will stage manage the proceedings, Dunlap said.

Jacklighters Pay Fines; Three Fined For Shooting At Unprotected Target

Hundred dollar fines for jacklighting deer were paid by two Monroe County men after hearings Saturday in East Stroudsburg.

Pleading guilty of the charges were Edward H. Barlow Jr., 28, of 9 Howard St., Stroudsburg; and Richard Fish, 23, Cresco Rd. 1.

The two admitted before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser that they killed a deer with the aid of artificial lights at 1 a. m. on Nov. 7 near Ananook, said Game Protector John Doehling, prosecutor.

Barlow still had some of the venison at his home, Doehling said.

Charged with shooting at "unprotected targets" during big game season were three men arrested in the Brads Lake area Saturday. They paid $10 fines each in the form of a field receipt (fine paid on the spot) levied by game protector John Spencer, Mount Pocono.

Spencer listed the three as Eugene T. Simchak, Beaver Meadows, Pa.; John Skerchock, Nesquehoning, Pa.; and John G. Angelovic, East Mauch Chunk.

Shooting at unprotected targets, said Spencer, means that the three were target shooting or "shooting mark" at trees, small objects, and things other than a target protected by an embankment or something to keep bullets from going wild into the woods and possibly injuring a hunter.

Megargel Says Maytag Top Washer

O. W. Megargel says there's a very good reason why so many homemakers have made Maytag the washer of their choice. More than five million Maytag Washers have been sold. Yes, more than five million! That's far more than any other washer.

For years and years, Maytags have been washing clothes so clean... so quickly and easily, so dependably and economically... so well, in fact, that their owners just naturally like to tell other people about them. Just pick up your phone and ask any three of them now... today... what they think of their Maytag washers.

You may not see the word "Welcome" actually printed on the side-walk in front of our store at 511 Main Street in Stroudsburg, but you'll be sincerely welcomed when you come inside. We'll be glad to see you at any time, and we'll answer any questions you may have about Maytag washers. Stop in soon, won't you?

Complete Unit Is Engineered Efficiently

You'll find nothing like it... or nothing on the market that compares with the Coleman Blend-Air heating system, now sold, serviced and installed by the H. C. Archibald Co., 406 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Blend-Air is a complete heating system—completely pre-engineered! It is the only system that is completely designed as a small-pipe system. The FURNACE, BLOWER, FITTINGS AND BLENDERS are conceived as a single unit to deliver the superior results that have made Blend-Air famous. This means one responsible source of supply can make the installation of a complete Coleman Heating System. It means dependable over-all performance of the entire system to insure the utmost in modern automatic home heating comfort.

All parts are precision-made at the factory... all are standard, easily assembled and quickly installed. This means a big reduction in material costs... a saving of hours in installation time. There is no costly tailoring of special parts. This heating system is a real help to the builder of modern homes... a boon to the modernization of old homes.

The results of Blend-Air for year-round indoor climate control are unparalleled. No other system offers such consistent home comfort at a price that is no more than old-fashioned, conventional methods. When blenders are installed so heat wipes outside walls, Blend-Air gives outstanding perimeter heating results.

Remember, when you buy a Blend-Air heating system or a year-round Blend-Air Conditioning system, you buy a product that is designed by one manufacturer. The component parts are built to function together as a unit for the very maximum of efficient service. One manufacturer stands responsible for the quality of performance. The quality of Coleman products has been famous in America and throughout the world for over fifty years.

See the interesting Coleman Blend-Air demonstration this week at the H. C. Archibald Co. showroom.

Miller Named Chairman For American Cancer Society 1954 Fund Campaign Drive

David L. Miller, 420 Normal St., East Stroudsburg will serve as chairman of the 1954 American Cancer Society campaign in Monroe County.

Miller, who was recently elected to the borough school board, is assistant manager of The Pocono Press, Cresco and art director of The Music Journal, a monthly magazine published by Waring Enterprises.

A native of Monroe county he is a 1935 graduate of the East Stroudsburg high school and is serving his second term as president of the borough Parent Teachers Association.

Miller accepted the appointment as campaign chairman with enthusiasm for the purpose of the Monroe county unit and other divisions of the A. C. S.

"While attending the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society's Pennsylvania division at Bedford Springs in October, I became aware of the important work the Society is doing in serving cancer victims," Miller said.

"This work is combined with a strenuous program of civic education projects and extensive research which may, in the end, provide the answers to two of our greatest problems in combating cancer—fear of the disease and the inability of science to find the basis for cancer in human beings at this time."

"Unfortunately all of us have, at some time or other, been made acutely aware of the disease. The very fact that it shows no favoritism substantiates the need for everyone's keen support of the 1954 fund drive. Many volunteers will be needed to carry out the work."

Miller urged all interested persons to contact the A. C. S. unit office at 615 Sarah St. to find out how you can serve this worthy cause.

An artist, Miller is a past president of the Pocono Mountains Art Group and one of the founders of that organization. He served six years in Civil Service during World War Two, working with the U. S. Navy.

He studied commercial art with the I. C. S. of Scranton and attended advance fine art classes at the Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D. C. during 1944 and 1945.

While living in Washington and Maryland, he was active in civic affairs and was instrumental in setting up citizens' associations for the betterment of the communities in which he and his family lived. He is married to the former

He introduced nine of the original charter members of the club and all of the past presidents. Mr. Effross gave a report of the club activities during the past year. A budget of about $1500 is required to finance club sponsored activities for the community.

PETE'S COURTSHIP

WITH NO FEELING for romance, our roving cameraman interrupted the courtship of Pete, the hippo, and his girl friend, Phoebe, just as they were settling down to a nine-year "engagement" in their New York zoo headquarters. Pete didn't like the interruption, but Phoebe didn't mind. Phoebe, who is a society belle from East Africa, met Pete the other day for the first time, and he immediately showed his affection by trying to chew her ear off, but Phoebe, at 315 pounds, can take care of herself. Since hippos don't mate until they are about ten years old, Phoebe and Pete are in for a long courtship. In their honor, the zoo has put them in a new pool (painted in a "swimming pool blue"). Top photo shows the happy couple taking a swim in their pool and in the bottom picture the photographer dropped in on them just as they were having dinner over at Pete's house.

Pocono Grange Installs New Officers, Confers Degrees

Tannersville—Third and fourth degrees in the Grange were conferred on three persons here last week when Pocono Grange 1415 convened. Cited were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hartman and Lee Hartman. Installation of officers marked the meeting. Seated were Frank Mooney, master; Arthur Christman, chaplain; Sallie Henry, Pocono; Alfreda Henry, executive committee member; Mrs. F. C. Mooney, treasurer, and T. Ben Henry, gate keeper.

Members decided to launch a project in cooperation with the March of Dimes and will place canisters in stores, erect posters and handle other assignments for the January campaign. Named as the committee are Mrs. Donald Hartman and Donald and Lee Hartman.

Further planning for continued installation ceremonies occurred, with James Cyphers and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seidof named as the committee. Date for exercises is Nov. 27.

Plans also were made for a card party Dec. 4, replacing the Nov. 6 event which was cancelled. It was decided to hold the annual Christmas party and gift exchange Dec. 11. Names will be drawn Nov. 27 for gifts.

Charles Van Sciver was appointed to the legislative committee. Program was in charge of John Montgomery. It featured reading of the first Armistice Day message. Report of the Cherry Valley Grange meeting also was presented.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are many ways to visit New York—and as many New Yorks to visit. You can go shopping and see New York as a series of escalators ascending and descending through floors and floors of treasures.

You can take the children and see a New York of parks and zoos and subways and elevators and pigeons on the walk. You can take a class of students and see it as a place of libraries and museums and the United Nations.

You can go as an adult interested in the plays and see it as a great background for the theater.

But Saturday was the first time I had seen it as the mother hen to a brood of teen-age chicks, scattering as if a handful of corn had been thrown in the barnyard—each one intent on a kernel of her own choosing.

About all you can do, then is stand on a corner and cuck worried clucks, whenever a blond head or blue coat or a red sweater disappears. Even over the sounds of the city you can trace the sound of concerted giggles, so it all turned out all right.

However, on any trip to New York, don't expect the home town to wait for you. Sunday you discover from the rash of corsages in church that the college had a dance the night before, and Sunday night even through the murk you can see the little Christmas trees glow!

Lafayette Easily Downs Lehigh, 33-13

By The Associated Press

Penn State, Gettysburg, Lafayette and Swarthmore won the battles of tradition Saturday as the 1953 Pennsylvania collegiate football season came to a close.

There are still a few scattered games to be played, but for 47 of the state's 51 competing football colleges, the campaign is over. Three teams weathered the return of one platoon football to roll along unbeaten—Shippensburg, Westminster and Joplat. Three others—Gettysburg, West Chester and Clarion—lost only one game each.

Despite the dire predictions of the two platoon advocates, football in the Keystone State this year was just as thrilling as ever. Football players once again became all around stars capable of playing 60 minutes instead of coddled specialists. The kids proved that they like to play full time, not half time.

Tradition

Penn State, with Tony Rados sparking in his final college game, beat arch rival Pittsburgh 17-0 in the 53rd game of their series. Rados' passing and quarterbacking resulted in all the scoring.

The defeat gave Pitt's Lowell "Red" Dawson his first losing season as a college coach.

At Bethlehem, Lafayette protected a tradition that no Leopard senior has gone through his four year college career without seeing a victory over Lehigh. Bryan Satterlee passed for two touchdowns and scored another on an 87-yard run as Lafayette beat Lehigh 33-13 in the 89th game of the longest unbroken series between two college teams in the nation.

Seven Squads Undeclared

Harrisburg (AP)—Lock Haven and Abington High schools won football games over the weekend to join five other major Pennsylvania schoolboy eleven in recording unbeaten and untied 1953 seasons.

The total of seven is two more than turned the trick last year, but about one-half the total perfect record teams in 1951.

Lock Haven trounced Williamsport, 20-6, for victory number 10 in a row and its first all winning schedule in 29 years. It was the first time in five years the Bobcats have taken the measure of their arch central Pennsylvania foe.

Abington downed Cheltenham by a three-touchdown margin to complete its first all victorious year since 1940. The Ghosts had turned back eight previous opponents. The five clubs finishing without a loss or deadlock before this weekend were Donora, Har-Brack, Adams Twp., Bellwood-Antis, and Corry.

York, one of the strongest teams in the state, failed to make the grade in its 1953 finale, bowing to Lancaster, a traditional rival. The margin of decision was a good placement by Bob Fryberger after a fourth period touchdown.

Lincoln Downs, R. I. (AP)—Royal Battle ($22,800) won the $10,000 Juvenile Stakes at Lincoln Downs on Saturday.

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)—L. V. Sikes resigned as head football coach at the University of Kansas after six seasons on Saturday.

Michigan State Named To Represent Big Ten In Rose Bowl After Lengthy Meeting In Chicago

By Tom Brannagan
Chicago (AP) — Michigan State's Spartans edged out Illinois for the Big Ten Rose Bowl assignment last night after conference athletic directors, in a lengthy, secret meeting, finally chose between them.

The Spartans, who won the coveted honor in their first year of Big Ten competition, undoubtedly will be opposed in the Pasadena, Calif., classic by UCLA.

The Los Angeles school won the championship of the Pacific Coast Conference by beating Southern California 13-0 Saturday. Only a formal affirmation by PCC athletic chiefs today remains.

Michigan State and Illinois tied for the Big Ten title with five victories and one loss each in conference competition. Thus, the athletic directors had to name one or the other for the trip.

Their first ballot—by telephone and telegraph to Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson's Chicago headquarters Saturday night — produced a 5-3 deadlock.

When it became apparent that the deadlock was firm, Wilson summoned the athletic chiefs of the various schools to Chicago for a joint debate on the merits of the two teams and further balloting.

The directors of the schools involved, Doug Mills of Illinois and Ralph Young of Michigan State, did not participate in yesterday's meeting. They absented themselves by mutual agreement.

Also absent, but sitting in via telephone, was Fritz Crisler of Michigan. The Wolverine director's plane to Chicago was grounded in Detroit.

Wilson's assistant, William Reed, said Michigan State had been notified of its selection and that the Spartans, through faculty representative Edgar Harden, had accepted.

In line with Big Ten policy, the final vote total for the Spartans was not disclosed. Neither was there any positive indication of how each of the schools in the conference voted.

Michigan State had been a favorite for the selection on the basis its overall record—only one loss in nine games to Illinois' one loss and one tie in nine.

An item thought to be working against MSC was that the Spartans are Big Ten freshmen. Some directors might have been reluctant to give Michigan State a Rose Bowl assignment because of this.

Illinois also undoubtedly had psychological factors against it—among them the fact that it had gone to Pasadena twice before.

In seven years, Munn's Spartan teams have won 53 games, lost only nine and been tied twice.

Life of Riley

Sports Editor

Kickoff time for the long awaited East Stroudsburg-Stroudsburg High school football game draws near. The respective schools are tapering off in present practice session for their annual Thanksgiving Day clash on the gridiron. Although this is the ninth game in the highly popular series and the last game of the current campaign, there are a lot of "firsts" connected with this year's meeting of the two teams. Before we go any further it might be well to point out that the contest is listed for Gordon Giffels Field and that the kickoff will take place at 10 a.m.

This is the first year since the local football season got underway that the Cavaliers will be defending the "Little Brown Jug." It is also the initial season that the East Stroudsburg grid machine has entered a "Battle of the Boroughs" with a win under its belt. Last year was the first time that the charges of Coach Jack Kist were able to finish in the victory column, by a 7-0 count. This is the first "Battle of the Boroughs" to be fought at Giffels Field since the new seating arrangement has been arranged.

A combination of only four defeats will be taken into Thursday's encounter by the two arch rivals. This is the fewest setbacks taken into the big game since it was moved to Thanksgiving. Last year Stroudsburg had lost four times and East Stroudsburg once at this date. This season the Mountaineers have a record of seven wins, one loss and one tie, while East Stroudsburg has won six and lost three encounters. Stroudsburg finds itself on the challenging side of the picture for the first time since the series began, a position that East Stroudsburg held for eight campaigns.

Thursday's contest will present Charley Winters and George Metropoulos, assistant Stroudsburg mentors, as coaches in the Thanksgiving Day encounter for the first time. This will be the first time in the history of the event that the elevated observation platform at Giffels Field will be in use. Thursday's contest will be the first Thanksgiving Day grid battle between East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg at Gordon Giffels Field. Last year was the first time the former mid-season clash was moved to its rightful spot on the November holiday. This is also the initial time that no reserve seats will be available.

Thursday's encounter is the first morning battle at Giffels Field between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. The "Little Brown Jug" was first donated as the football prize between the Mountaineers and Cavaliers back in 1945 by Marty Baldwin. This is the initial time in the series that an outstanding player from each squad will be named after the game and the selected players in turn will be presented with two free tickets for the Army-Navy grid battle in Philadelphia next Saturday. This is also the first Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg contest to be followed on the new scoreboard at the W. Main St. field.

There are also a couple of seconds in the series this year. This is the second game to be played on Thanksgiving, the second time that members of the Stroudsburg grid machine will be guests at a special breakfast prior to the game and it will be the second straight year in which Mountaineers will hold the special "Last Lap" program at Wednesday's final light workout of the present campaign. This will be the second "Battle of the Boroughs" to be broadcast by radio station WVPO, with Joe Whalen handling the play-by-play, and this is only the second meeting of the two arch foes in the morning hours.

If this year's East Stroudsburg-Stroudsburg clash should end in a tie the "Little Brown Jug" will remain at the N. Courthard St. school. Once lost, the trophy can be returned only by a victory and not a deadlock. If no injuries occur during practice sessions today, tomorrow and Wednesday, both teams should enter the contest near peak physical condition, an oddity in itself this season. Inclement weather ruined both of Stroudsburg's big games thus far this campaign, but the Mountaineers are hopeful of making up some of the ground lost financially on Thursday. The crowd was greatly reduced at the Whitehall game by hard rain, while snow twice forced postponement of the Stratton contest at Giffels Field.

This will be the second year that the rival hands will march as a unit, one of the finest gestures to come out of the yearly clash on the gridiron. The hands are scheduled to practice as a unit today. The Mountaineers plan their final heavy workout today, while the Cavaliers begin their tapering-off process for the big game. Wednesday's workout in each camp will be nothing more than loosening up exercises. Scouting reports are getting more than their usual amount of attention in both grid camps this year. Both clubs would rather wind up the current campaign with a victory than do anything else.

Browns Shade Steelers, 20-16

Pittsburgh, (P)—Quarterback Otto Graham threw two touchdown passes and Lou "The Toe" Groza kicked two field goals to give Cleveland a 20-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers yesterday and a virtual clinch of the Eastern Division flag of the National Football League. The Browns need only one more victory in their three remaining contests to sew up their fifth division title.

Graham hit halfback Ray Renfro for a touchdown with his first pass—a 54-yard heave in the initial quarter and tossed 31 yards to end Darrell Brewster in the second period for another score.

Groza, trailing Bobby Walston of the Philadelphia Eagles by two points for top NFL scoring honors booted a 50-yard field goal in the second quarter and a 41-yarder in the third and added two conversions to regain the league lead with a season total of 76 points. Walston has 70 points.

The victory was the Browns' ninth straight of the year and the eighth over the Steelers since Cleveland vacated the All-American Conference in 1946.

Quarterback Jimmy Finks, playing without the knowledge that his 6-day-old prematurely born daughter had died in a hospital, sneaked over for the first Steeler touchdown and directed the second scoring thrust in which he completed five passes in five attempts for 45 yards. Ray Mathews plunged over from the one on third down to cap an 80-yard drive.

A crowd of 32,901—largest for a Pittsburgh pro football game since 1947—saw the Steelers take a 9-7 lead in the first period on a touchdown and a safety but the Browns, with Graham pitching, wiped out the deficit in the second quarter and never were headed in the nationally televised game.

Graham, playing with 15 stitches in his face from an injury in last week's encounter with the San Francisco 49ers, got the 10-point favored Browns off to a quick start with his 54-yard touchdown heave after two minutes and 34 seconds elapsed in the first quarter.

The Steelers quickly tied it up with a 63-yard touchdown march and added two points on their safety. Halfback Warren Lahr of Cleveland intercepted a pass by Finks on the goal line and in attempting to run was tackled in the end zone by Matthews.

In the second period, the Steelers drove from their eight to the Cleveland 28 where the march stalled and tackle Nick Bokkova was inserted to try a field goal. But Lynn Chandnois dropped a bad pass from center on the 34.

Groza, the league's top kicker, showed the Steelers how it's done on the next series of plays by booting his 50-yard fielder. Lahr's 37-yard return of a pass interception moments later set up the second Brown touchdown with Graham heaving 31 yards to Brewster.

Graham tried 28 passes and completed 16 for 280 yards. Finks threw 20 and connected with nine for 79 yards.

The Steelers outgained the Browns on the ground 216 yards to 60 with halfbacks Chandnois and Mathews and fullback Fran Rogel eating up the biggest yardage. Chandnois got 60 yards, Mathews 79 and Rogel 72.

The big ground gainer for Cleveland was Billy Reynolds, former Pitt star, with 25 yards in five attempts.

Tommy Thompson, the Browns' big tow-head center, suffered a dislocated knee early in the first quarter.

Western Division Pro Grid Title Still Far From Settled

By Ed Corrigan

New York, (P)—The fearsome Cleveland Browns, the only undefeated team in the National Football League, came within one game of clinching the eastern division championship yesterday when they defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers 20-16.

Ryan Named To Golf Post

Buffalo—Jack Ryan, an assistant on the Shawnee Inn and Country Club golf professional staff in recent years, was recently named head pro at the Country Club of Buffalo.

Ryan, who will take over his new duties in the spring, succeeds George B. Smith, who resigned last month.

Harry Obitz, head pro at Shawnee, has long regarded Ryan, a native of Brockton, Mass., one of the leading teaching pros in the nation.

Ryan, runner-up in the 1950 Philadelphia PGA Tournament and quarter-finalist four other years, is head pro at Ponce DeLeon, Fla., during the winter months.

Contenders In Action

New York, (P)—Eddie Chavez and Johnny Cunningham, two busy boxers who beat lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in non-title bouts, swung into action this week in an ordinary national program.

Chavez, a leading contender for Carter's title, meets Lil' Arthur King of Toronto Wednesday at the Winterland Arena in San Francisco, the usual Wednesday night TV (CBS) show.

Cunningham, a 10 to 1 underdog when he upset Carter at Miami Fla., goes against Carmelo Basilio of Camarota, N. Y., at 1 o'clock of the Saturday night fights (ABC-TV).

Featherweights

Madison Square Garden has a rematch of a featherweight contest between Lulu Perez of Brooklyn and Dave Gallardo of Los Angeles. This Friday bout will be seen on (TV NBC) and heard on radio (ABC). In their first meeting, Perez trailed Gallardo September 4 at the Garden when the referee stopped the bout because of Gallardo's severe eye cuts. Perez was an eighth round technical knock-out winner. Lulu has won 23 of 34 fights.

Joey Giardello, Philadelphia's fast-rising middleweight contender, boxes Tuzo Portuquiez, strong Costa Rican, Monday at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. The match will be seen on TV (DuMont) in some sections.

Willie Troy, a promising middleweight, goes against Charley Williams at Providence today, a night loaded with action. Other interesting shows today find Joey DeJohn facing Joe Rindone at Syracuse and Garth Panter fighting Grover Jackson at Salt Lake City.

Irish Bob Murphy, making a comeback, will try to get even with "Havana Baby" Williams tomorrow at Tampa. Williams won a split decision over Murphy, October 13.

Bob Baker, Pittsburgh heavy, is matched with "Doc" Williams tomorrow at Pittsburgh.

Finks Plays Despite Death

Pittsburgh, (P)—Quarterback Jimmy Finks directed the Pittsburgh Steelers against the Cleveland Browns in a National Football League game yesterday not knowing his six-day-old daughter had died.

The child, born prematurely last Tuesday, died in her incubator at a hospital here shortly before Finks left for the game at Forbes Field.

Request

Finks' wife, Maxine, asked Steelers officials not to tell him about the death until after the game.

Finks sneaked over for a Steeler touchdown in the first quarter and led Pittsburgh to another in the final period but the Browns scored a 20-16 victory.

Lancias Suffer First Loss In Pan-American

Chihuahua, Mexico (P)—Italy's low slung red Lancias and the control over the Pan-American American-built Lincolns retained their control over the Pan-American automobile race yesterday but the Lancias bowed to a Humber Mabilio-driven Ferrari in both of yesterday's runs toward the U. S.-Mexican border at Juarez.

Maglioli, whose own car was forced out of the big sports car competition by mechanical trouble Saturday, took over Masio Ricci's Ferrari at the start of yesterday's two laps at Durango and proceeded to administer the first whipping to the Lancias since the race started Thursday near the Guatemala border. The race ends today with a 358 mile run completing the 1,912-mile test of speed and endurance.

First Lap

The Italian driver won the first of yesterday's laps, a 251-mile dash to Parral, in two hours and 15 minutes, and was first to arrive in Chihuahua, another 186-mile trip, with a clocking of one hour and 27.45 minutes. His time for the Parral-Chihuahua leg was 45 seconds less than the record set by Karl Kling in a Mercedes last year. His speed was figured at 130 miles an hour.

Maglioli picked up nine minutes on the leader in yesterday's laps but his total time left him no better than fourth back of three Lancias.

Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio remained in first place with an over-all clocking of 16:32.5 after finishing second in the run to Parral and third in the dash to Chihuahua. Italy's Piero Taruffi was third into Parral and fourth into Chihuahua. Castellotti wound up fourth and second in the day's two laps.

Maglioli trailed Fangio by two hours, 18.08 seconds.

Schmidt Memorial Keglers To Roll

Dave Schmidt Memorial League action will take place at the Potomac Bowling Center today, at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Baylor's Esso vs. E. S. Hardware.

Alleys three and four—Bixler's TV vs. National Drug Co.

Alleys five and six—611 Used Cars vs. Shoemaker's Signs.

Alleys seven and eight—Engine Works vs. Heico, Inc.

The Redskins couldn't score until the second half against the Giants, but halfback Johnny Williams intercepted a couple of passes to set up scores in the last period and Washington pulled ahead. Both his interceptions came on passes attempted by "Chuck" Conerly. Eddie La Baron carried over on one and Charlie Justice on the other.

Basketball Practice

Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg's entry in the Blue Mountain Basketball League, will hold a practice session at the Portland School tonight. All members of the squad are scheduled to meet in front of George's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, at 7 p.m.

Avocado Pears Make House Plants; Iron Sulphate Is Aid To Blue Spruce Trees

AVOCADO PEARS: The so-called alligator or avocado pear you see in grocery stores makes a fine house plant when grown from seed. After the edible part is removed for a salad, you can plant the seed in loose soil. The big fat seed takes its own time to germinate and send out roots. Some root in 3 weeks; other takes months. Put the pot in a warm spot, with or without light. After growth starts, move to a bright window and keep in warm room. Sometimes the avocado sends up a long stem with leaves on top, with none between. In such instances there's not much you can do to shorten the plant, but we find that if you pot a fern in the same soil, you can "hide" the naked stem.

Some gardeners start the seed with the bottom resting in water. A couple toothpicks are thrust into the sides to support the seed, but in many instances a slime mold forms on the seed, causing it to rot or turn black. You'll have better luck rooting the seed in soil.

Tamiment's Awards Given To Sandburg

By Leonard Randolph
Carl Sandburg, poet-laureate of the 1930's and America's greatest Lincoln biographer, was awarded the Tamiment Institute's $300 prize Saturday for the first volume in the story of his own life.

At a luncheon meeting in New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Sandburg accepted the award with typical calm in an off-the-cuff speech which made a strong plea for racial tolerance.

The child of Swedish emigrant parents, Sandburg listened as modern-day poet Peter Viereck challenged his contemporaries to "return to the influences" of the white-maned, prolific Galesburg, Ill. man who, Viereck said, is the successor to Walt Whitman as America's "prophetic voice."

They keynote for the meeting, however, was set by Sandburg's longtime friend and associate, Max Eastman, a poet and essayist in his own right who, as Sandburg later said, "has devoted his time to many fields."

Eastman's address to the group was chiefly sentimental—a reminiscence of Sandburg's beginnings as a major American writer through publication in Harriet Monroe's "Poetry Magazine" in Chicago.

Audience, Eastman and most of the speakers were unabashed in their obvious fondness and respect for the man who knocked the props out from under American poetry form and substance with his deceptively free-form, colloquial and hard-hitting portraits of the fear, filth and formlessness of the poverty-stricken late 20's and 30's.

Presentation of the Tamiment award "for outstanding (auto) biography" best depicting the principles of American freedom was made by Virginia Petersen, moderator of the television program "Author Meets Critic."

Sandburg, in accepting the award, noted that progress has been made in America in breaking down the barriers of unjust discrimination against persons of varied races and religious groups.

He urged his listeners to remember that many isolated cases of prejudice still exist, however, and made a plea for continued efforts for tolerance toward all groups.

Chairman for the luncheon was Adolph Held, a member of the Institute's board of directors. Held was introduced by Ben Josephson, managing director of Camp Tamiment, the organization's summer vacation resort near Bushkill.

A large number of Monroe county residents were among the nearly 200 persons who crowded the Waldorf's Sert Room to hear the presentation of the award.

Among these were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stofflett, Mr. and Mrs. Ger-

The award to Sandburg was made for the book "Always the Young Strangers," the first volume in the poet-biographer's projected three volume autobiography.

"Strangers" was published this year by Harcourt, Brace and Co. It appeared instantly on best seller lists published by metropolitan newspapers and was hailed by the majority of critics as the outstanding autobiography of the year.
